

MEDICOS' LAW HIT BY JUDGE

Medical Practice Act Gets Adverse Ruling
Part of Statute Declared Unconstitutional

Revoked License Restored to Dr. McPheters

FRESNO, July 13. (AP)—Declaring unconstitutional that section of the Medical Practice Act under which Dr. G. Carl H. McPheters of this city was deprived of his license by the State Board of Medical Examiners, Superior Judge Charles E. Barnard today restored Dr. McPheters' license.

Dr. McPheters' authority to practice medicine was revoked by the board some months ago on the grounds that he revealed professional secrets in connection with the investigation of the death of his former office nurse, Miss Lella Atkinson.

Dr. McPheters still faces a Federal charge of sending obscene matter through the mails in connection with the investigation of Miss Atkinson's death, having disagreed at his first trial here last May.

JUDGE COMMENDS BOARD

In his written decision on Dr. McPheters' suit to regain his license, Judge Barnard said:

"In my opinion the State Board of Medical Examiners acted in this case with commendable zeal and high-mindedness and with sincere desire to do all in their power to keep the practice of their profession in the highest possible plane."

"But because of the loosely drawn statute under which they were proceeding and their very natural reaction to certain evidence admitted before them, they were led into error and as a consequence acted in excess of their authority."

"The danger in such looseness of statutes is especially apparent in this case. This very looseness invited and caused in the proceeding upon a certain charge of 'willfully betraying professional secrets' a situation in which, in bringing out evidence on the charge, certain other evidence was brought out, not upon or affecting the charge, but evidence which in itself was repulsive."

BOARD CONFUSED

"It seems apparent to me that the board, being naturally confused between the material evidence and the immaterial was carried away with the latter and found the petitioner guilty of the charge upon evidence which if standing alone, unconfused by the immaterial evidence, was not sufficient and which if it had been considered by itself would not have resulted in the revocation of the petitioner's license."

"The real effect is that the petitioner has had his license to practice medicine revoked, ostensibly upon the charge of willfully betraying professional secrets when the real and actuating cause is another matter not before the board and not covered by the Medical Practice Act."

ACTED WITHOUT AUTHORITY

"Whether the petitioner can be or might be punished for the other matter is another question not involved in this proceeding. In my opinion in this case, the board acted without jurisdiction and beyond its authority. First, because the particular subdivision of the Medical Practice Act acted upon in this case is unconstitutional; second, because no evidence was produced at the trial of the accused which proved or tended to prove that petitioner had willfully betrayed professional secrets."

"It is therefore ordered that the petition be granted and that the order of the Board of Medical Examiners revoking the license of the petitioner to practice medicine be set aside and annulled."

Bay State Dry Chief Censured

BOSTON, July 13. (AP)—William M. Furgave, superintendent of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League, is under censure of the State House of Representatives, and in addition is barred from privileges according to legislative action.

The House voted, 91 to 83, yesterday after a warm debate on the report of a special committee which investigated Furgave's charges of an asserted "wild party" at the time of the last prohibition.

Furgave had charged that the party "reminded one of the drunken parties held in the back room of the saloons in the days before prohibition," but when called to testify, he had no personal knowledge.

DETROIT SLAIN AS RESULT OF BEER FEUD

DETROIT, July 13. (AP)—Joseph Tallman, 29 years of age, was shot and killed at the wheel of his automobile early today in what police believe was the outcome of a liquor feud.

Tallman was cut down by a hail of bullets from guns fired by four men in another car, his companions, Harvey Smith and Max Weston, told police.

Tallman, according to police, had supplied Detroit-made beer to a large section of the East Side.

TEXAS BALLOT EXILES BOLTERS

Third County Closes Primary to Anti-Smith Men
Ban Decision of Lower Court Goes Up on Appeal

Republicans May Fuse With Democrat Faction

DALLAS (Tex.) July 13. (AP)—The names of Texas Democratic candidates for State offices who have refused to vote for the election of Gov. Smith today were barred from primary ballots in three counties pending the outcome of a test case.

The third refusal for Democratic party bolters came yesterday when the Galveston county executive committee refused to place the name of Thomas B. Love and other anti-Smith Democrats on the ballots for the primary, the 28th inst. Love, former Democratic national committeeman, and a leader of the ultra-dry faction of the party in Texas, is a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

CASE APPEALED

Prior to the action of the Galveston county committee Love's name was barred from ballots in Cameron county, when a District Court judge denied an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the committee to recognize his candidacy. His appeal from this decision is pending before the Civil Court of Appeals at San Antonio.

The Galveston committee said it refused to recognize the bolters "because they are openly and notoriously violating their party obligations and pledges, and the integrity of the party demands that their names not be printed on the ballot."

A State Supreme Court decree upholding the Galveston county committee in a similar case in 1921 was cited by the committee.

Meanwhile plans for an alliance of Democrats opposed to Gov. Smith with the State Republican organization were advanced at San Antonio. At a meeting of the Republican State executive committee there a steering committee was appointed to confer with anti-Smith Democrats. R. B. Cresswell, national committeeman, said the steering committee would confer with Democrats opposed to the election of Governor on a proposal to submit a ticket of anti-Smith electors for the Republican electors already selected.

Nude Parade Threatened

NELSON (B. C.) July 13. (AP)—Declaring they will return to Nelson to parade without clothes, the Sons of Freedom, Doukhobors, who invaded Nelson Wednesday night with the avowed intention of remaining until one of the members was released from jail, were piled into a bus by city and provincial police this morning and taken as far as the cross-roads at the top of Tachum Hill, where they were released and ordered to go home. The party included four men and one woman, jailed Wednesday night.

Police are taking precautions against the Sons of Freedom staging a nude parade in Nelson. These parades, according to residents of Glade, Thrums and Brilliant, Doukhobor headquarters, are not uncommon.

Huntington Aids Art Collection

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13. (AP)—Dr. Archer Milton Huntington of New York, son of the late Collis P. Huntington, one of the founders of the Southern Pacific, has mailed a $100,000 check to the trustees of the San Francisco Palace of the Legion of Honor, it was announced here today.

The announcement of the gift said the money is to be used for adding to the collection of Louis Quinze furniture, tapestries and other art objects in the palace. That collection was presented as a memorial to Collis P. Huntington.

DES MOINES (Iowa) July 13. (AP)—Promoted from first vice-president, Ben A. Ruffin of Richmond, Va., today was elected president of Lions International in convention here.

IRISH SMITHS ALL FOR AL

County Council in Northern Part of Country Votes to Congratulate Him

BELFAST (Northern Ireland) July 13. (AP)—The Smiths came out strong in Cavan county today for Gov. Smith of New York.

At a meeting of the County Council Owen Smith proposed a resolution congratulating Gov. Smith on his selection as Democratic candidate for the Presidency of the United States. Patrick Smith seconded the motion, which was adopted enthusiastically.

The resolution asked the Irish voters to support Gov. Smith.

Owen Smith went on to say that Gov. Smith's ancestor hailed from Bruckley, Cavan county, and the people are proud of it.

SMITH RETURNS TO HIS DUTIES

Albany Trip Follows Close of Campaign Parleys
Governor Pleads Ignorance of Platt Amendment

Says He Doesn't Know About Law Affecting Cubans

NEW YORK, July 13. (AP)—Bringing to a close a series of conferences with members of the Democratic National Committee, which has partially perfected a campaign organization, Gov. Smith returned today to Albany. His plans for the immediate future are indefinite.

The Democratic Presidential nominee indicated that for the present he will remain in Albany, where it is planned to notify him officially of his nomination. A date for that ceremony has not been fixed.

With John J. Raskob, new chairman of the national committee, out of the city for the week-end, Gov. Smith spent most of the day before his train departure conferring informally with others who will assist in the direction of his campaign. It is probable that Raskob and other leaders will confer with him in Albany next week, not only regarding his notification but as to the type of campaign he will conduct.

LATIN QUESTION

At a press conference an effort was made by a representative of El Mundo, a Havana newspaper, to ascertain whether the Democratic platform plank on Latin-American affairs means that the party and its Presidential nominee will support the nullification of the Platt amendment.

"I don't know what the Platt amendment is," Smith declared, adding that he will not discuss questions of so much importance without giving them careful study.

At Smith campaign quarters today Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, who has been placed in charge of women's activities, announced she and colleagues will work in concert with men of the party and that she will have an advisory committee representative of all sections of the country. She declared there is no desire by Democratic women to assert themselves as women.

MRS. ROSS'S OPINION

While Mrs. Ross said that she thinks prohibition is an important public problem, she believes women of the country are more interested in the restoration of honesty in government and the farm question.

One of Gov. Smith's callers was Clara Ross, who is the wife of the nominee that he will be glad to do anything desired during the campaign in his behalf. Darrow declared that he is particularly interested with Smith's stand on prohibition.

Club Federation Retains Leader

NEW ORLEANS, July 13. (AP)—Mrs. Lena M. Phillips, New York lawyer, was elected to a third term as president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at the annual convention here today.

Other officers elected are: Mrs. J. K. Bowman, Richmond, first vice-president; Miss Annie Woodall, Berkeley, Cal., second vice-president; Mrs. J. H. McHenry, Detroit, recording secretary; Miss Georgia Priestley, Kansas City, corresponding secretary; and Miss Margaret Stewart, Ogden, Utah, treasurer.

Selection of the next meeting-place was deferred until tomorrow.

Blinn Will to be Checked Here

NEW YORK, July 13. (Exclusive)—Because the original will of Holbrook Blinn, the actor, has been lost, his widow, Mrs. Ruth Benson Blinn, has filed a copy of the instrument in the Surrogate's Court of Westchester county at White Plains.

In order to prove the authenticity of the copy a commission will be sent to Los Angeles, where the will was executed on July 29, 1925. The commission will examine witnesses and the attorney who drew the document. No value is placed on the estate.

Fairly accurate descriptions of the men were obtained. One is said to have waited in a car in which they made their escape while the other went into the bank brandishing a pistol and compelling officials to hand over the loot.

STATE PRINTING OF BOOKS DISCOURAGED

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT ENDS SURVEY REGARDING NEED OF SCHOOL WORKS
SACRAMENTO, July 13. (AP)—State printing of supplemental textbooks for use in California schools is neither desirable nor practicable, the Department of Education finds. A special study of supplemental textbooks, ordered by the last Legislature, was completed on the 1st inst.

The department found that 8000 titles and 224 publishers are involved in the supply of supplemental books used in California schools, but its report filed with the State Board of Control, gives no indication that districts have gone wild in using them. Heron says.

On the contrary, it is reported that the free textbooks printed by the State are intended to cover only the minimum essentials of education in the State and that there is no disposition on the part of the State department to develop local districts of the right to exceed the minimum standard.

The department also finds that books suitable for supplemental study in districts with long terms are not suitable for those with short terms and that cities which group students according to mental ability separating the fast-moving minds from the slow ones, need different types of books.

The Menace of the Stereopticon
In the age of almost miraculous scientific progress less amazement than would have been the case ten years ago has been expressed over the perfection of the invention of a device known as the Stereopticon, or Magic Lantern, which is designed to "show photographic pictures (L. B. daguerreotypes) on a screen as if standing out in relief."

Yet, now that this necromancy has been achieved, shall we look upon the Stereopticon as an unmitigated blessing? No, a thousand times no! Shall the splendid old daguerreotype of our forefathers, cause of so many hours of innocent enjoyment among the "kiddies"—aye, and the "grownups," too, if you will—be hushed to sordid commercialism? Again, no! Shall the American home

Meanwhile, the home is deserted. Foxe's "Martyns" lies idle on the table, the wax fruit melts under its glass bowl.

EICHELBERGER DEFEATED

Ernest Coombs of Long Beach Wins California Junior Golf Title in Play at Del Monte

DEL MONTE, July 13. (AP)—A little lad from Long Beach, 13 years old, Ernest F. Coombs, won the California junior golf championship at Del Monte today, defeating Harry E. Eichelberger, 17, Los Angeles, and medalist of the tournament, by the ultimate margin of 4 up and 2 to play.

The chief upset of the whole indoor track season was Coombs' defeat of Lloyd Hahn in the California junior golfers. Coombs' morning game was the finest seen on Del Monte's "classic" links in many months. He sank three difficult approaches and registered an one-putt—a phenomenal record by itself. His medal score for the morning round was 71 to Eichelberger's 81.

It was a slightly different story this afternoon. It was Eichelberger who went out in one under par to Coombs' outgoing 43 but the Long Beach youngster lightened up again at the crucial moment and his final three putts stopped Eichelberger's rally, and clinched the title.

Net Earnings Decrease of $487,268 Shown

Equals 11 Cents Per Share for Half Year

Slump Laid to Realty and Oil Shrinkage

Net earnings of the Los Angeles Investment Company for the half year ended June 30, last, amounted to $487,268 after all charges but before Federal income taxes, as compared with $1,034,923.35 before taxes in the first half of 1927, a decrease of $487,268.81, or approximately 48 per cent, according to an earnings statement released yesterday by the company.

This is equivalent to about 11 cents a share, before taxes, on the outstanding capital stock of $1,000,000 shares of $1 par value each and compares with 20 cents a share earned in the corresponding period of last year. As previously published the drop in profits is largely attributed to the break in crude oil prices last year and the recent dullness in the real-estate market.

Sales of real estate for the six months' period aggregated $901,825, as against $1,284,747.50 in the first half of 1927, a decrease of $382,922.50, or nearly 30 per cent. Oil income totaled $285,251.80, a drop of $65,371.64, or more than 24 per cent, from the income of $350,623.44 reported in the same period of 1927.

Total assets on June 30, amounted to $12,118,710.12, while liabilities, including income tax reserve, totaled $758,399.82, revealing a net worth of $11,360,310.30. In this statement, assets of the company are all shown on the basis of original cost, less depreciation. The activities of subsidiary companies are all progressing in a satisfactory manner, it is stated, and it is expected that the return to the parent company will be greater as these are built up. Resources of the Investment Building and Loan Association aggregated $3,369,000.52, June 30, last, as against $1,481,308.93 for the same date last year, an increase of $1,887,691.59, or more than 263 per cent. The association reports an active gain in the sale of investment certificates.

Local Schools' Savings Plan in Sharp Increase

Savings accounts under the Los Angeles school savings plan totaled $1,173,922.30 June 30, last, which is a new high mark and surpasses deposits December 31, last, of $1,031,695.58, by $142,226.72, or more than 14 per cent. A. Waller Morton, vice-president of the Merchants' National Trust and Savings Bank and retiring president of the Los Angeles Bank School Savings Association, declared yesterday at the annual election meeting of the latter organization.

School savings-bank accounts number 57,369 as compared with 51,239 December 31, last, an increase of 6,130 accounts in six months. This figure also represents a gain for twelve months of 17,793 accounts. The total marks an average of $20.46 a student.

Thanks to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Susan M. Downey, superintendent, and her deputy, J. B. Monlux, together with the co-operation of principals, teachers and parents, the association has just closed one of the most gratifying years in its existence. Mr. Morton said, T. E. Ivey, Jr., vice-president and cashier of the bank, was elected president; C. C. Lincoln, assistant vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, vice-president; and A. H. DOHENY ACTION CRITICISED

Complaints Made by Some Minority Holders Over Sale to Richfield; Nonvoting Evil Shown

BY EARLE E. CROWE
Certain minority stockholders in Pan American Western Petroleum Company are highly critical of the action of E. L. Doheny, the pioneer oil operator, in selling his majority interest in the company to the Richfield Oil Company of California.

Most of the criticism is directed at the failure of Mr. Doheny, so far as the stockholders have been told, to obtain definite terms for the holders of the "B" shares, and the manner in which the announcement was made, the complaining stockholders seem to be under the impression that Mr. Doheny got his price and left the Richfield management to make its own deal with the minority.

SUSPICIONS AISED

In the absence of any statement on the price paid for the majority interest, the suspicion among the "B" shareholders has arisen that Mr. Doheny received better consideration than was offered the "B" stockholders in the sale of the "B" shares to Richfield. No special criticism seems to attach to the Richfield company on this score, but some of the people who invested their money in the Doheny enterprise are not hesitant in airing their suspicions and voicing the belief that they were "sold out."

In contrast, the trade under which California Petroleum was recently sold to the Texas Corporation is cited. Stockholders representing a majority of California Petroleum negotiated the trade with the Texas Corporation, and then offered the minority holders the privilege of accepting or rejecting the same terms. If there is any lesson to be learned from the Pan American Western deal, it is the danger of buying a nonvoting stock. Mr. Doheny, representing the management, owned every share of the "A" stock, possessing the sole voting power, and the "B" stockholders, who were not in a position to have any voice in any matter pertaining to the affairs of the company.

When it came to selling control of the company, the "B" stockholders, who were not in a position to have any voice in any matter pertaining to the affairs of the company, were not in a position to have any voice in any matter pertaining to the affairs of the company. The "B" stockholders, who were not in a position to have any voice in any matter pertaining to the affairs of the company, were not in a position to have any voice in any matter pertaining to the affairs of the company.

LOSSES TAKEN

The "B" shares were originally sold by Doheny to the public at $25.50 a share, and at $34 a share to employees. During the time when the Richfield negotiations were under way the stock hung around $20, and immediately after the offer of exchange was made to the minority the price dropped back to around $17. These are the figures on which the minority holders rest their case.

Further, under the terms of exchange offered by the Richfield company, the stockholders find that upon the verdict in the Elk Hills litigation depends the difference between a three-for-one exchange and a two-for-one exchange. Right or wrong, they ask if the Elk Hills matter is not a moral obligation of the public relations department of the Los Angeles-First National Trust and Savings Bank, and only memories remain of an unpleasant experience.

The Pan Western minority accepts the Richfield terms, they at least will have a vote in the affairs of the company. In time, their losses will be made good. The company is now in a position to pay dividends of $1 on the common stock of the company payable August 15 to shareholders of record the 20th inst.

Diamond Electric Earnings Higher

Net earnings of the Diamond Electric Company for the second quarter aggregated $37,324, according to a report issued by the company yesterday. This compares with $17,928 reported for the first quarter, an increase of $19,396, or 52 per cent.

Net earnings for the six months totaled $45,350. Should earnings continue at the present rate, they would be equivalent to approximately $3.75 per share for the whole year 1928.

The expansion program is proceeding rapidly and erection of the factory in Houston, Tex., is reported to be well ahead of schedule. A reserve fund is being set aside for taxes, depreciation, etc.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 13. BANK CHIEF IN WARNING TO TRADERS

Chicago Executive Says Credit of Nation Near Breaking Point

CHICAGO, July 13. (AP)—A warning that the nation's credit has been expanded almost to the maximum and that a day of reckoning must come was sounded last night by Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago and former president of the American Bankers' Association, speaking to members of the newly formed Chicago Curb Market Association.

"The present situation of tight money," said Mr. Traylor, "is not an artificial one—it is fully justified by economic law. It will continue as long as stock exchange speculation continues to be dealt in as actively as they now are and continue to use the credit they have been using recently. This has been increasing at more than $500,000,000 a year for the last two and one-half years, while the Federal Reserve ration has been moving down and the borrowing of member banks has been going up. In the last year the United States has lost $500,000,000 in free gold."

Bankers, Mr. Traylor said, are determined, if possible, not to let the situation get out of hand, which would involve a crash such as occurred in farm lands in 1920 and Florida real estate in 1925. Dealers in stocks and bonds, he declared, must call a halt in speculative activity to permit liquidation of security credit.

Machinery Sale Gains Reported

Although no official report of the earnings of the Southwestern Engineering Corporation has been issued for the six months' period ended June 30, sales for the period totaled $1,507,890, compared with $1,398,200, an increase of $109,690, or about 8 1/2 per cent, which would indicate that net profit would show a corresponding increase. Officials of the company stated yesterday.

New Cornelia Stock Listed

Capital stock of New Cornelia Copper Company has been admitted to trading on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. Philip S. Leo, secretary of the exchange, announced yesterday. The company has an authorized and outstanding capitalization of $5,000,000 consisting of stock of $5 par value per share.

The company is controlled by Calumet and Arizona Mining Company through the ownership of $6,148,705 of its capital stock. Dividends are being paid at the rate of $2 per annum, it was stated. The stock is also listed on the New York Curb and Boston Stock exchanges.

Allis Chalmers Advances Rate

NEW YORK, July 13. (Exclusive)—Directors of the Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Company declared $1.75 quarterly common dividend, compared with $1.50 paid formerly, payable August 15, to stockholders of the 24th inst. This places the stock on a $7 annual basis.

President Falk stated that earnings for the year so far and the future outlook is evidenced by the satisfactory volume of current bookings and orders on hand, fully warranting the action of the directors in making the larger distribution to the company's stockholders.

Net Earnings of Marchant Grow

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Net earnings of Marchant Calculating Machine for the first half of 1928 increased 105 per cent over results for the same period of 1927, and are running at the annual rate of 23 per cent on the common stock after all charges and preferred dividends, but before provision for Federal income taxes.

Net income for the six months ended June 30, 1928, was $3000 above that for the entire year 1927. Gross sales were 35 per cent greater this year than in the same period of 1927.

DEPOSIT OF DODGE

STOCK INCOMPLETE

NEW YORK, July 13.—Extended time for deposit of Dodge Brothers securities under the proposed plan of consolidating Chrysler and Dodge expired the 10th inst. Bankers for Dodge have made no announcement as to whether or not the requisite 90 per cent of Dodge securities have been deposited under the plan, and it is assumed a portion of necessary stock still remains to be deposited. Bankers are rechecking deposits which have been made and are conferring as to steps which will be taken should it be found that insufficient stock has been deposited.

RATE BOOST PLAIN ANSWER

Unexpected Advance by New York Bank Viewed as Fresh Warning to Stock Speculators

BY WILLIAM GARRETT
(Copyright, 1928, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 13.—New York's unexpected move to a 5 per cent discount rate this week is the Reserve system's unequivocal answer to those driving a bull market now in stocks. Those who lingered late in Wall Street yesterday afternoon were given two surprises which, taken jointly made no very pleasant dose for speculators. First came the report of a $64,000,000 decrease in brokers' loans, which immediately excited favorable comment and persuaded some that an adjustment in credits might be worked out here without the necessity of a rate shift. Taken alone this seemed good news.

A second interpretation was put on things when after a long session the New York directors showed by their rate increase that Reserve officials would take no more chances. It showed plainly they will not be satisfied with anything short of a real adjustment in credits. Otherwise on the verge of so handsome a drop in loans this week, they would have postponed action.

It showed, too, they do not mean to run the risk of having their critics call them timid as some did in February, when the system too soon relaxed its efforts.

All manner of criticism has been hurled at the Federal Reserve system in the last few days by those who refuse to understand how necessary it is that an adjustment take place in the credit structure before stock market speculation begins through tight money to check business. The A.B.C. of the matter is this: $500,000,000 in gold has been hoarded by banks and enormously narrowed. And yet the volume of member bank credit instead of shrinking proportionately has actually been expanded in the last year by $1,000,000,000.

Finding their reserve greatly depleted with the loss of gold and increasing demands for funds member banks have been obliged to restore their reserve positions by borrowing heavily at the regional institutions. The consequent expansion in discounts has reached a point at which further increases will almost surely and immediately tighten money just at the season of year when industry and agriculture most need aid.

Marland Oil Rumor Denied

NEW YORK, July 13. (AP)—Reports that Marland Oil Company planned to withdraw from California are without foundation, E. W. Marland, president, said today.

"Marland Oil Company of California has been a highly successful and profitable subsidiary and we expect to expand further and develop along production lines in California," he added. "When we entered California, it was with the avowed purpose of engaging in the producing end of the oil business, and the field we are refining is very well covered in that State."

Shareholders of Bank Grow

Stockholders of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association totaled 36,476, an increase of 11,483 during the last few weeks, according to a report of the secretary of the institution read at the recent meeting of the board of directors.

At the close of 1927 the bank had slightly less than 25,000, and the average individual stock holding amounted to approximately sixty shares. With the recent heavy subscriptions, this average has been reduced to fifty-two shares.

RAIL INCOME DECLINES

NEW YORK, July 13.—Mobile and Ohio Railway reported gross income for first week of July of $285,246, a decrease of $8997 over the corresponding period last year. Gross income from January 1, totaled $6,752,459, a decrease of $623,622 over last year.

THE INVESTOR

BY WILLIAM RUSSELL WHITE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. Evening Post, Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 13.—The substantial recovery in American common stock from the low levels recorded in the June break proved that the recovery was not due to any change in the business situation at that time, as it affected Blauvelt, but to the change in book-keeping methods.

American Can has completed an extensive building program which required expenditures last year equal to $3.25 a share on the common, in addition to outlays equal to $3.69 a share in 1926, $2.68 in 1925, $1.61 in 1924 and $1.83 in 1923. Benefits from this expansion are beginning to show in net income. If a policy of more generous dividend disbursement is followed, an increase in the $2 rate is to be expected.

A steady growth has taken place in use of cans for packing food, confections and other products distributed through large retail chains. Experiments indicate the demand for cans reasonably may be expected to increase as other products are packed in such containers.

Moreover, a tendency has developed in recent years to put vegetables, fruit, etc., in smaller cans to meet the needs of small families. A great demand for articles of this kind has been created in 10-cent stores. It is said. This tendency, of course, means increased production for can manufacturers.

UNDERTONE FIRMER ON WOOL MART

Weekly Survey Reports London Strength Chief Steady Factor

BOSTON, July 13.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: The week in wool has been extremely quiet, but the tone of the market is better in consequence of the strength at the London sales, which has exceeded expectations. Foreign markets generally are firmer for the same reason.

In the West very little has been done in the new-clip wool. The manufacturing situation still is unsatisfactory, but some improvement is reported in dress goods and the mills in many cases are still busy on old contracts.

Mohair is firm with demand moderate. The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1928, to July 12, 1928, inclusive, were $7,941,000 pounds against $6,679,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1928, to July 12, 1928, inclusive, were $7,645,500 pounds against $6,201,000 pounds for the same period last year.

Net Earnings Decrease of $487,268 Shown

Equals 11 Cents Per Share for Half Year

Slump Laid to Realty and Oil Shrinkage

Net earnings of the Los Angeles Investment Company for the half-year ended June 30, last, amounted to $547,650.4 after all charges but before Federal income taxes, as compared with $1,034,938.35 before taxes in the first half of 1933, a decrease of $487,287.85, or approximately 48 per cent, according to an earnings statement released yesterday by the company.

This is equivalent to about 11 cents a share, before taxes, on the outstanding capital stock of $5,000,000 shares of $1 par value each and compares with more than 20 cents a share earned in the corresponding period of last year. As previously published the drop in profits is largely attributed to the break in crude oil prices last year and the recent decline in the real-estate market.

Sales of real estate for the six months' period aggregated $901,825, as against $1,284,747.50 in the first half of 1933, a decrease of $382,922.50, or nearly 30 per cent. Oil income totaled $285,251.50, a drop of $68,371.44, or more than 24 per cent, from the income of $353,622.93 reported in the same period of 1933.

Total assets on June 30, amounted to $12,118,710.12, while liabilities, including income tax reserve, totaled $784,399.52, revealing a net worth of $11,334,310.60. In this statement, assets of the company are all shown on the basis of original cost, less depreciation.

The activities of subsidiary companies are all progressing in a satisfactory manner, it was stated, and it is expected that the return to the parent company will be greater as these are built up.

Resources of the Investment Building and Loan Association aggregated $2,500,000.32, as against $1,481,308.93 for the same date last year, an increase of $1,018,691.39, or more than 68 per cent. The association reports an active gain in the sale of investment certificates.

DOHENY ACTION CRITICISED

Complaints Made by Some Minority Holders Over Sale to Richfield; Nonvoting Eoil Shown

By EARLE E. CROWE
Certain minority stockholders in Pan American Western Petroleum Company are highly critical of the action of E. L. Doheny, the pioneer oil operator, in selling his majority interest in the company to the Richfield Oil Company of California.

Most of the criticism is directed at the failure of Mr. Doheny, so far as the stockholders have been told, to obtain definite terms for the holders of the "B" shares. From the manner in which the announcement was made, the Richfield stockholders seem to be under the impression that Mr. Doheny got his price, and left the Richfield management to make its own deal with the minority.

SUSPICIONS ARISE
In the absence of any statement on the price paid for the majority interest, the suspicion apparently has arisen that Mr. Doheny received better consideration than was offered the minority. This is especially true in the case of the "B" stockholders in the exchange of shares tendered by Richfield. No special criticism seems to attach to the Richfield Corporation on this score, but some of the people who invested their money in the Doheny enterprise are not hesitating in airing their suspicions and voicing the belief that they were "sold out."

In contrast, the trade under which California Petroleum was recently sold to the Texas Corporation is cited. Stockholders representing a majority of California Petroleum negotiated the trade with the Texas Corporation, and then offered the minority holders the privilege of accepting or rejecting the same terms. If there is any lesson to be learned from the Pan American Western Petroleum sale, it is that the minority stockholders should not be sold out.

LOSSES TAKEN
The "B" shares were originally sold by Doheny to the public at $25.50 a share, and at $24 a share when the company was sold to the Richfield negotiations were reported under way the stock hung around $20, and immediately after the sale the price dropped back to around $17. These are the figures on which the minority holders rest their case.

Further, under the terms of exchange offered by the Richfield company, the stockholders find that upon the terms of the exchange, the difference between a three-for-one exchange and a two-for-one exchange, right or wrong, they ask if the E. L. Doheny matter is not a case of selling the minority stockholders at a loss to the majority stockholders who had nothing to do with incurring it.

If the Pan American Western minority accepts the Richfield terms, they at least will have a vote in the affairs of the company. The company's losses with Doheny may be recovered with the Richfield company, and only memories remain of an unpleasant experience.

Diamond Electric Earnings Higher

Net earnings of the Diamond Electric Company for the second quarter aggregated $27,224, according to a report issued by the company yesterday. This compares with $17,526 reported for the first quarter, an increase of $9,698 or 55 per cent.

Net earnings for the six months totaled $45,560. Should earnings continue at the present rate, they would be equivalent to approximately $1.75 per share for the whole year 1934.

The expansion program is proceeding rapidly and erection of the factory in Houston, Tex., is reported to be well advanced. A liberal reserve fund is being set aside for taxes, depreciation, etc.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 13. (Exclusive)—The cotton market eased further today, turning into new low ground on the move, following an opening at lower prices and a rally on covering and trade buying which momentarily checked the decline. The Liverpool cables were worse than was due, and there was a generally bearish interpretation of the weather report.

WALL STREET PARAGRAPHS

(Copyright, 1928, New York Evening Post, Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 13.—Following long established precedent the speculative fraternity, it seemed, was disposed to regard the advance in the bank rates here and at Richmond as in the nature of another piece of "bad news" out of the way. The rally, which carried prices up sharply after an initial setback, was neither surprising nor unusual. The dramatic nature of the decline of the preceding two days, brought about by liquidation and speculative selling in anticipation of just such an event, apparently had left the market in a somewhat overcast condition. Naturally there was the usual rush to cover and buy for a turn.

Battle of the Giants

This oft used phrase came in for repetition again during the day. More than one observer was moved by the action of the market to comment on the powerful support being extended to the leading stocks by the bank rates here and at Richmond. It was as if the market were engaged in a battle between opposing financial forces with bullish operators, backed by an optimistic attitude on the part of the banking authorities, holding the purse strings, on the other. Relative to the outcome, however, the belief among such observers was that more liquidity would be forthcoming for the good reason that as they put it, "money never loses."

General Motors Rebounds

The recovery in General Motors from its early decline to a new low for the current day was hailed as a harbinger of a general rebound in the market. The recovery of the stock of the corporation, which stands as a symbol of the automobile industry, was seen as a sign of confidence in the future of the industry. The rebound was attributed to the fact that the company's earnings were better than expected, and that the market was beginning to see the value of the company's assets.

BRISK RALLY ON STOCK MARKET

closed 43-4 points higher at 135 1/2, based on a revival of reports that the Rockefeller interests had sold their holdings and that the stock would be split up on a four-for-one basis. Alchamers reported a 2.4 per cent advance of the stock, one side and the other, and the market was beginning to see the value of the company's assets.

Indian Refining preferred scored 14 points to 20 1/2. The stock of the company, which is a leader in the oil industry, was seen as a sign of confidence in the future of the industry. The rebound was attributed to the fact that the company's earnings were better than expected, and that the market was beginning to see the value of the company's assets.

Revival of bullish operations in Texas and Pacific, which ran up 7 points to 10 1/2, was the only development of importance in the railroad group. The rebound was attributed to the fact that the company's earnings were better than expected, and that the market was beginning to see the value of the company's assets.

Commodity markets were again mixed. Wheat, which had been a leader in the market, was seen as a sign of confidence in the future of the industry. The rebound was attributed to the fact that the company's earnings were better than expected, and that the market was beginning to see the value of the company's assets.

Foreign exchange rates were also mixed. The dollar was seen as a sign of confidence in the future of the industry. The rebound was attributed to the fact that the company's earnings were better than expected, and that the market was beginning to see the value of the company's assets.

THE TIGER IN AMBUSH

The frantic efforts of the Democratic campaign managers to keep the effort to elect Al Smith will be directed by Tammany Hall is indicative of several things, among them that the country has been heard from emphatically. In consequence of the revolt that followed the naming of a wet Tammanyite for the Presidency, orders have been given that "Tammany is to take no part in the national campaign, but is to confine its efforts to getting out the vote in the five boroughs of Metropolitan New York."

But Tammany is in the national campaign, up to its neck. In fact, it is the campaign, so far as the Democratic program is concerned. It cannot hide the tiger's stripes by putting a lot of dumplings on the National Executive Committee who are not known as Tammany adherents. To say that its task is merely to carry Greater New York by 600,000 majority is an absurdity poorly calculated to deceive. It must also supply the motive power, a big campaign fund, without which the wheels of the National Executive Committee would not turn a cog, and no one is so simple as to think Tammany will have nothing to say about the spending of that fund. Tammany will, in fact, direct where and how every dollar of it is to be placed. Those who believe otherwise do not know Tammany.

No amount of camouflage can conceal the facts that the most conspicuous Tammany man since Boss Tweed is the head and front of the Democratic party in this year of 1928; that Smith has been made by Tammany Hall, owes to it his whole career, and that he neither can nor will repudiate that obligation.

His obligations include the present nomination. It was not any liking of the Democrats of the nation for either Smith or Tammany that dictated the proceedings at Houston; it was the fact that this powerful organization, plentifully supplied with money, found it comparatively simple to obtain control of the beaten, disrupted, discouraged, hopeless and leaderless minority left after the defeats of 1920 and 1924. Tammany did not buy the nomination outright, but its practical effect is about the same as if it had. Without Tammany, Smith could not have obtained it. And if Smith is elected Tammany will demand, and receive, payment in full for its services.

The Tammany tiger has been shoved into the background, temporarily, but he has not been caged. If he is not in the open he is in ambush, where he is even more dangerous. This tiger is a very hungry tiger; his appetite has not been appeased, it has rather been intensified, by the tidbits in New York City, such as the $20,000,000 annual graft recently revealed in the New York City street-cleaning department, and no one knows how much that has not been revealed. The tiger is anxious to fatten himself on the contents of the national treasury. His feelings have not been hurt by being asked to step out of sight, because the tiger himself prefers the shadows.

SUCH IS FAME

The incident at North Platte, Neb., when Col. Lindbergh was unable to get a $4 check cashed in a restaurant because he was not known, seems to indicate that the modern communication of intelligence of which we are so fond of boasting is not 100 per cent effective. One would have said offhand that Lindbergh has been so thoroughly photographed and described that no man, woman or child could be found anywhere in the United States who would fail to recognize him at a glance. One would have said it; but one would have been wrong.

North Platte may have some difficulty living down this Lindbergh incident. On the other hand, the publicity North Platte has received may make it a Mecca for those desirous of getting out of the swift current of modern life. Here is one place, its Chamber of Commerce may be found advertising, where peace and quiet may be had by those who wish to make a place where a handrum round of daily duties is not interfered with by too much attention to the bizarre and picturesque incidents of the outside world; one place which is still living in early Victorian simplicity.

Thus may misfortune be turned to profit.

NAVY GUNNERY HONORS

The effectiveness of a navy in war depends not only on the numbers and tonnage of its battleships and the range of its guns, but even more on the range of its gunners. Our Navy has proved this in the past on many occasions; the accuracy of its gunners, no less than the personnel of its crews, has been the leading characteristic of American sea fighters in every naval victory.

For the fiscal year just closed the battle fleet based at San Pedro has won first honors and the bulk of the prize money in gunnery competitions of all kinds participated in by the entire United States Navy. Battleships, destroyers, light cruisers, torpedo crews, each and all, contributed to bringing these trophies home to Pacific Coast waters.

Residents of Southern California are naturally gratified at the performance of the Pacific Fleet and extend their heartiest congratulations to the officers and men of these splendid defenders of our western shores. To know that the United States Navy leads the world in the accuracy of its gun crews and to know that the battle fleet based at San Pedro leads the rest of the Navy makes assurance doubly sure that the cities and homes of the Southwest need have no apprehension of a successful attack on our Coast by any possibly hostile nation.

We are glad that this honor has been won by crews whose members many of us have met and have had the pleasure of entertaining. Every patriotic Californian thrills at the thought that our established Navy standards are being ably upheld by the part of the fleet allotted to the Pacific Coast. These records in marksmanship and the extraordinary accuracy of long-range guns to hit a target invisible from the shore are more-over guarantees for peace on the Pacific Ocean, by demonstrating the futility of war operations against coast towns so well defended.

LEE SIDE O' LA

A BABY was born in an automobile in San Francisco the other day. Well, you certainly can't blame the stork for concluding that the car, rather than the kitchenette, is home.

Do you know delphinium when you see it? Or white sage, or blue sage, or poison oak, or even yucca?

If you don't, a hike along some near-by mountain trail just now may teach you a great deal. The nature study classes of Los Angeles public schools have been hiking and picking along the trails recently and have performed a great public service by tagging every bush they passed. Until the winter rains come, those tags will be readable, and they are not only educating thousands of visitors to our national forests, but are warning many against the dangers of poison oak.

The other day we took a walk out Sturtevant trail with a native son. He stopped and read typewritten tag after tag with interest. "By George!" he exclaimed, "these school kids know a lot I never did learn."

Lee-side: See that people are being fined for smoking in national forests. That shows how much ahead of our civilization the Chinese civilization is. In China anyone who so needlessly endangers lives and property—in nonmilitary activities—certainly would be beheaded.—G. W.

Lee-side: Mr. Peek of the "Committee of Twenty-two" says "The Democratic platform is a new Declaration of Independence for farmers. Emboldened farmers? And is his full name Melba K. C. J.?"

Lee-side: A publicity agent we know was walking down Vermont with a large soft-leather bag in one hand when a dry-squad sergeant stepped out from behind a tree and stopped him.

Lee-side: "Watchagottentat bag?" demanded the trusty officer. My friend made no reply. He lifted the bag high and flung it down on the pavement with all his might. There was no crash, no clink of glass, no clink of bottle on bottle. The cop begged his pardon and went on.

My friend picked up his grip and did likewise. But he says now that those rubber bottles were a good investment.—Parker Rowe.

Lee-side: Scientists at Mt. Wilson Observatory say they would like to bring astronomy down to the plain people. They better hurry, or the plane people will beat 'em to it by getting up to the stars.—Humum.

Lee-side: These four birds even swoop down and roost on the home.

Lee-side: The motorist picks up a weary pedestrian and suffers an accident, he is held for damages. The Good Samaritan in a motor car has not much of a chance to ply his trade. He has too often picked up a thug.

Lee-side: Eternal vigilance seems to be the price for retaining what you have, and keeping out of jail for something you have not done!

Lee-side: The Japanese government now proposes to apply the death penalty to those who would use violence to bring about the downfall of the existing authority. There are a good many Communists in the Mikado's realm. They have plotted and preached the destruction of any and all governments and have urged the use of bombs and arms to that end. Many they have been allowed to do. At most they could be sent to prison for five or ten years, but hereafter if they are taken in the midst of serious plotting there will be no tomorrow for their activities. Governments must be expected to use extreme measures to protect their own powers.

Lee-side: Gov. Smith is said to have indicated a firm purpose to boss his own campaign and head his own board of strategy. After it is all over it should be a comparatively simple thing to fix the responsibility.

Lee-side: A movie star of the first magnitude is being sued for damages. A prize fighter is having to fight for his fortune in the courts. A lawyer is held for damages for losing a case. A physician is haled before the judge because a patient died. The Chief of Police is a defendant along with a hotel man for false arrest. Hardly a day passes but what some reputable citizen is compelled to contest his possessions and standing. Doubtless damages at times are due. When the scamp enters business and piles his trade along regular lines, he is doubly dangerous. Promises to enhance beauty, failure to keep contracts, selling lots with views that have been deleted, and a thousand and one skin game keep the laws on the statute books to protect the unwary.

But to the innocent bystander, without entering into the merits of any case, it seems that the parasite is working overtime. Headlines of success in the news columns become ads to the crook. An epidemic of attempts to bludgeon the public in a genteel and legal way appears to be sweeping the city.

Crime runs in waves. Certain types of banditry appear to suggest the same to others and the honest become the victims of the predatory. The most vicious type of stealing is for a so-called business man to hold another up for doing his duty. Officers easily become the targets. Any man who deals with the public is especially liable.

The personal perils of office make it difficult to secure the best men for public life. They can but expect to become objects of vituperation. To engage in even ordinary occupations becomes unsafe because of the vultures hovering over. These four birds even swoop down and roost on the home.

Custer's Horse
 LOS ANGELES, July 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your issue of Monday I note, with interest, of a reunion of survivors of the old Seventh Cavalry band at Santa Monica. The writer of the dispatch is in error in stating that Gen. Custer was the owner of the horse Comanche, which escaped the battle alive at the Little Big Horn fight. That animal was ridden by Capt. Miles Keogh of Troop I, not by Gen. Custer. Custer had two horses along on that campaign, named Vic and Dandy. Vic was ridden into the battle and killed with his master. Dandy was taken by Custer's "striker," John Burkman, back to the camp, and was ordered, to remain there until after the battle. This horse, of course, escaped being in the fighting with the Custer command.

The first things that strike one's attention on entering the rooms devoted to this exhibit were large, brightly colored maps of North, Central and South America, showing the regions from which the objects originated. Another striking thing, somewhat resembling a map, was a copy of a picture on parchment showing the prehistoric wanderings of a Pueblo tribe. Lines of little black footprints pass in various directions from four central points. Groups of people sit in rows, apparently on low stools. Some are completely enveloped from neck to ankles in brown capes, only heads and feet protruding. Others have large napkins spread over the entire front of the body, with ends tied about the neck. Human heads are provided with four long braids, in as many directions. There are dark masks looking as if they might be intended for mountains, and many bizarre figures whose meaning we were unable even to surmise.

Many fine photographs showed the remarkable buildings and monuments uncovered in Yucatan, Peru, Honduras, Guatemala, and elsewhere. There were numerous views of Chichen-Itza, showing the great temple as a whole, and many details of its remarkable and beautiful carvings. We were given a clear view of the jungle forest which had hidden the building, some trees even being left growing from temple terraces and walls.

As a fitting accompaniment to all this past architectural grandeur of early Latin America, one room of the exhibition was hung with large tapestries of the Indian series, executed at the beginning of the eighteenth century. These represent tropical scenes of land and water, with trees, flowers, and various animals and fish.

There were many pieces of Aztec pottery and sculpture, some bearing rather close resemblance to the older examples of Egyptian and Assyrian art. Some of the stone masks had features well cut, especially those of marble or semiprecious stones. One was carved with fine mosaic in turquoise blue. The mouth still boasted a few white teeth, but the nose was missing.

Necklaces of large roughly cut carved stones had larger pendants crudely carved. The American beauties of ancient times must have been strong and husky to wear such necklaces and weights about their necks just for the sake of adornment.

There were painted pottery, mostly red and brown, some terra-cotta vessels, and a few objects of metal, including a small mirror of polished metal, and a small bell of brass. There were also a few objects of wood, including a small box of wood, and a small bowl of wood.

PRE-COLUMBIAN ART

By EVELYN McDOWELL

Paris has been adding lately and taking notice of the art of ancient America. An exhibit of pre-Columbian art, said to be the first of its kind in France, has been held at the Musee des Arts Decoratifs, in one of the long wings of the Louvre Building.

Large French and foreign museums, such as those of Madrid, Florence, Brussels, Mexico City, the New York Museum of Natural History, and the Bibliotheque Nationale of Paris, have loaned many of their treasures for this exhibition of more than 1500 objects, of great variety and profusion.

The first things that strike one's attention on entering the rooms devoted to this exhibit were large, brightly colored maps of North, Central and South America, showing the regions from which the objects originated.

PEN AND PAPER

Another explanation of the strange thing that is going on in the world is a girl picking up a pen and writing a letter.

It really takes time to write a letter. One has to think of what to say, and then one has to write it. It is a very tedious process.

Let us be grateful to the people who have given us the pen and paper. Without them, we could not communicate with each other.

"Fill 'er up," is a phrase referring to the gas tank of a car. It is a very common expression.

Perhaps if there were a girl picking up a pen and writing a letter, she would be able to communicate with the people who are in the world.

It is estimated that there are about 200 million people in the world. That is a very large number.

Some of the things that are going on in the world are very strange. It is hard to understand them.

However, the things that are going on in the world are not as strange as they seem. They are just the way the world is.

Let us be grateful to the people who have given us the pen and paper. Without them, we could not communicate with each other.

Show Runs to Comedy and Dancing, With Dane and Arthur in "Detectives"

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

It had to be eventually—a take-off on the mystery thriller, and Karl Dane and George K. Arthur provide it this week at Loew's State Theatre, though the receipt for "Detectives," the picture, in which they play, is in some respects deficient. "Detectives" splits the returns in laughs and entertainment with an "Our Gang" comedy, and Kiddie Revue, Fanchon and Marco presentation, with a fairly even break for each. The Kiddie Revue has perhaps a shade the best of it in genuine popular appeal. The last two reels; the earlier ones not so good. The trouble with it is that it lacks a few situations, and the plot is very slowly unfolded. There is a fairly novel introduction in which Dane is shown conquering an army of gangsters, and conquering them single-handed. It all looks very good and serious until you find out that it is just a story that he is telling to a pretty typist.

The picture then lets down into a lot of familiar and routine comedy. Arthur spins peas at the back of Dane's neck, slaps him on a wild-goose chase after some gun fighters, and then spends considerable time dodging punishment.

The plot doesn't really warm up until the two set out to recover a stolen diamond necklace, and by devious routes land in a ghostly and isolated house out in the country. Here trap doors, clutched hands and other devices of the thriller are used to produce more or less excitement, and the two leading players as well as the girl are threatened with no less dire a fate than being turned into mummies.

Really, the last part of this picture is sufficiently good to have been made into an excellent short-reel, but the earlier part shows signs of padding.

Dane and Arthur are personally amusing. Arthur has perhaps a better opportunity, and adding to the variety, does an impersonation of a chambermaid with fair effectiveness. Charming Frankie seems to demonstrate the most ingenuity in the thriller sequences. These are exceptionally good.

Marceline Day is the girl, and Tenen Holtz shows facility in make-up and characterization.

The Kiddie Revue, staged by the O'Neill Sisters, is a divergent affair with youngsters large and small, chubby and slim, dark and light taking part. The colored group of six seemed the reigning feature of the day with their cakewalk. An Apache dance burlesque won second place at the show attended. The dance steps were well performed, and staging is pleasing.

I have seen better "Our Gang" comedies than "Crazy House," but from this is far from being a bad picture. The children always provide some refreshing moments of amusement.

Crook Thriller "Opens at 'Met'"

"The Racket," second production from the Caddo Company, and first to be released by it through Paramount, opens at the Metropolitan today as the screen attraction for one week.

Thomas Meighan enacts the leading role in the new underworld thriller, which has been adapted from the stage play by Bartlett McCormick, which enjoyed success in New York and Los Angeles.

Meighan is cast as a hard-boiled captain of a large city's police department. His efforts to combat crime in his district are thwarted at every turn by Nick Scherz (Louis Wolheim) and his gang. The adventures of Scherz are said to be based on the true-life exploits of the notorious "Scarface" Al Capone. Marie Prevost has an important supporting role as a cabaret dancer.

The new Public Revue is titled "Pagoda Land" and stars Adler, Weil and Herman. "California Rumpus-Birds" Others featured in the act are Irene Taylor, "blues" singer; Gus Mulcahy, harmonica player, and Wallace and Cappe, eccentric dancers.

August Brings Star to Stage

The announcement has been made that Conway Tearle, for some years past a prominent figure in motion pictures, has decided to abandon that field and return to his first love, the spoken drama. He has arranged to produce Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's dramatic play, "Mid-Channel," and the date has been set for August 6 at the Curran Theatre, San Francisco.

Tearle will have as a co-star, Margaret Lawrence, who has recently returned from Europe, where she has been touring in "The Road to Rome." In addition to Miss Lawrence, Pat Somerset, Iris Oullette and Montagu Love will have prominent roles in the piece.

Before entering the motion-picture field, Tearle was a popular Broadway star and at one time played with Ethel Barrymore in "Mid-Channel" in New York and in most of the leading eastern cities. He was also co-star with Miss Barrymore in "Camille."

Departure of Comedy is Set

George Sherwood's production of Seymour Hicks's Parian farce-comedy, "What a Man," featuring John T. Murray and Ruth King at the Hollywood Play House, will have its final two performances the 28th inst., according to announcement.

In closing, "What a Man" is expected by the management to go to San Francisco for an engagement at one of Homer Curran's theatres.

LASKY RUSHING TALK PICTURES

"Burlesque" Director Chosen—Babe Likely to Speak; Mary Pickford's Next to Be Silent, She Says; Phyllis Haver Is Only Girl in Her Film

BY GRACE KINGOLBY

Back from his stay in New York, Lasky Lasky had some interesting announcements to make yesterday, several of them concerning the new sound device to be put into use at once in the Paramount pictures.

Babe Daniels, it is probable will star in a talking picture after she returns from a New York vacation which Mr. Lasky let us know she was to enjoy as soon as she finishes her current picture, "Take Me Home."

She will be gone about a month, and will take the opportunity to recruit her health following the long illness during which she has been suffering from the flu.

Miss Daniels was a child-actress on the stage before she was in pictures, and it is considered that she is entirely qualified to appear in the spoken drama of the screen. It is likely that she herself as usual will assist in the writing of the story.

Victor Fleming, declared Mr. Lasky will direct "Burlesque," which is to be the first all-sound picture production to be made by Paramount. It will be filmed entirely in the West. George Mankster and Arthur Hopkins wrote the original play, which is one of the New York successes of the past season.

The roles which made Nancy Carroll a favorite on the New York and Los Angeles musical comedy stages will be heard when the revised film version of "The Irish Rose" is screened. Miss Carroll sings two songs, "A Little Irish Song" and "Rosemary," the lyrics for which were written by Charles Nichols. Charles Rogers plays the piano in the picture, and does it exceedingly well, declares Lasky.

"The Irish Rose" is a musical comedy, the piano playing of Buddy Rogers, the shouts of the crowd of war-hardened soldiers who listen, are vivid reminders of the war.

"When the whistle blows and the doughboys hear the order to forget Rosemary and Able and march away to the front, the sheer drama of it is a real thrill."

Mary Pickford won't be rushing into the spoken drama. Mary Pickford, who is perhaps one of the best quality stars in the film players, from her experience on the stage, declares that she will do no such thing. She means silent drama to remain silent as far as she is concerned. Her next picture, she says, will have no sound devices. At least that is her present idea.

Douglas Fairbanks will have sound devices but no dialogue in his sequel to "The Three Musketeers," I learned also.

Paramount Signs Two Players

Two players have been signed by Lasky since his return from New York. They are Jack Oakie, who is playing in Clara Bow's Paramount picture, "The Sign of the Cross," and Ruth Taylor, whose contract with Paramount has been renewed.

Oakie started in the business world as a clerk in the United Artists studio office. He admits he didn't do much work.

Everyone plenty of laughs. May Leslie, society impresario, heard of him and cast him in the Junior League's charity show of 1919. After that he went into vaudeville, and then into "Innocent Eyes," "Artists and Models," several comedies, the Zigfield Follies and in "Peeky Ann."

John Barrymore Will Talk

On the other hand it was quite inevitable that John Barrymore should be called upon to speak lines in his pictures.

Word from United Artists studio is to the effect that the building of the sound-producing studio is being hastened in order that it may be used to house the John Barrymore company when producing "Conquest," which is the new title of "Der Koenig von Bernina," begins this summer.

How the production of this vehicle will be affected by Barrymore's announced return to the Warner Brothers' fold is not known at this time.

Star Sure of Attention

If any girl may be sure that she is going to have a lot of attention, that girl is Phyllis Haver.

Miss Haver is to be the only girl in "Bugsy" which Howard Hignins will direct for Pathé. On the other hand, she is to be surrounded by a whole bunch of engaging young actors. Alan Hale will have the featured male part, as previously announced, and yesterday Fred Astaire was added to the cast.

Kohler was borrowed from the Paramount-Lasky lot to appear as the fighting rival, Noble Johnson, Pat Hartigan, Jules Cowles and Dan Wolheim will all have important roles in the picture.

Elton Clawson wrote the screen play of "Bugsy" from the Dale Collins novel, "The Sentimentalist."

Sound and Color for Buck

Not only is Buck Jones' initial independent production "The Big Hop," to have sound effects, but also some color portions, according to word received yesterday.

Jones has included a Technicolor sequence in the picture, the scenes representing an aviation banquet. Sound effects are also combined means of the picture.

Jobyna Ralston plays Buck's lead in the picture, and James W. Horne directed.

Montagu Love Featured

Once in a long while a villain gets a break in a picture. That's how it is happening in "The Condemned Woman." Montagu Love has been cast in this Famous Short Stories, Inc. film as the featured player. Robert Dillon is directing.

LAURA LA PLANTE SCORES ANEW

It will be ten years this fall since the Armistice was signed. Yet still they come—these farces-comedies which relate humor and romance of training-camp days, of days in muddy, shell-battered trenches, of days when the Army of Occupation held forth, of days when the boys came home.

For some reason or another, the Boulevard Theatre, Washington and Vermont, seems to have "gone khaki" and of late has been book-keeping stories of life in and about the Army by the bucketful.

When, however, theater executives bring to their screen, as they have done this week, such a delightfully gay, such a pleasantly funny comedy as "Finders Keepers," with Laura La Plante, all is forgiven.

Wesley Ruggles directed "Finders Keepers" with a skilful hand, with an eye to balance, restraint and best development of his comedy values.

It is, however, the acting of Laura La Plante, who is ever an engaging and delightfully refreshing presence in a picture, which lifts this film far above the run of romantic war comedies which have been issuing from studio laboratories with such monotonous regularity of late.

The story of "Finders Keepers" is much ado about nothing. Miss La Plante, as the daughter of the colonel of the regiment falls in love with a young private, Johnny Harrow, whom she has met at a soldiers' entertainment.

CONDUCTOR SHARES HIS PROGRAM

Coates Gives Fans Russian Thrill; Mina Hager Sings With Intelligence

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Albert Coates conducted a longer program to a larger audience at the Bowl last night than at his previous concert. It was lengthened by a program within a program—the inner program being sung by Mina Hager.

The orchestral concert consisted of the third "Leonore" overture by Beethoven, the last movement from Rimsky-Korsakov's "Scheherazade" suite and the "Fountain of Rome" by Respighi. The orchestra became more coherent, had a better balance and spoke more eloquently Mr. Coates' wishes on this third night of the Bowl season.

The "Leonore" was unexpectedly conventional. In the "Scheherazade" the audience was treated to a vivid spectacle. Coates kept his players and his listeners on the qui vive for surprise. The tempo was furiously fast and the phrases full of excitement. It was a kind of stunt, a wild quickening of horns, and strings and reeds that courted disaster but stopped just short of it. In this again we had the brilliant conception of the temperamental star.

"The Fountain of Rome" brought out a different mood in the responsive Mr. Coates. He paid the contemporary Respighi a respectful nod and always granted a nod. Once more the visions of Rome rose upon the night air at the Bowl and again the setting seemed ideal for this nature-music of Respighi's.

Coates proved himself a most sympathetic conductor of accompaniments during the numbers with Mina Hager. He succeeded in the difficult task of self-effacement with admirable good taste and added impressively to the excellent impression made by this American singer.

Miss Hager is a singer of distinction. Her program consisted of "Salve Regina" by Pergolesi, sung with stately poise and in good style; four Chinese poems beautifully set for orchestra by John Alden Carpenter and of an intimate nature utterly charming; but for the most part lost in the vastness of the Bowl; an aria from Verdi's "Masked Ball" revealing an interesting sense of drama and two encores.

She has had the exceptional schooling which builds musicianship and except for lower tones her voice is open and clear. It lacks warmth, but Miss Hager makes up for this by her very evident intelligence.

Her encores were "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and Oscar Franck's "Angelica" sung with violin obbligato by Sylvain Noack and accompanied by Claire Melionne. One questioned the taste of two encores after so many songs but many flowers and hearty applause attested to her popularity.

The program tonight is popular and contains an obituary note by Henri de Buscher, one of the eminent choists of the world whom we are fortunate enough to have in Los Angeles. Mr. Coates will conduct the "Nutcracker Suite," Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and the overture to "Tannhauser" and other familiar numbers.

Deauville Club Plans Theater

A dinner was given last night at the Deauville Beach Club, the members of which have banded together for the presentation of three-act comedies, one-act plays, readings and other lines of dramatic work. Attending were many prominent civic and social leaders as well as representatives of the press.

The aim of the organization's dramatic society, which has decorated and furnished a quaint little theater, is to interest the younger folks in theatricals. Chester G. Miller is chairman and director of the society, while Betty Gilmore is acting as advisory manager.

MANAGEMENT CALLS SEAT-HOLDERS LUCKY

Lucky people today are those who have tickets for "The Sign of the Cross," which in spite of the fact that it has already had fifteen weeks in Los Angeles, is still playing to the capacity of the popular Majestic Theatre at every performance, the management comments.

Perry Askam as the Red Shadow still puts enthusiasm into his role. Elvira Tani, the prima donna, wins the audience with her singing. Johnny Arthur and Myrtle Brown provide the clowning of the production.

EDUCATION IN MEXICO DISCUSSED

Former Minister Speaks on Schools and Military at Affairs Institute

Educational work will thrive in Mexico only when the democratic rather than the military form of government is in force, as the assertion made yesterday by Senor Don Jose Vasconcelos, former Minister of Education in Mexico, who addressed the third Los Angeles Institute of Public Affairs which held its concluding session last night in Millspaugh Hall at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Senor Vasconcelos reviewed Mexico's educational problems and traced the influences during many periods of the country's development. He deplored the expenditure of government funds to maintain military establishments designed to further interests of the administration in power, declaring that as "the budget for war goes up, the education budget goes down."

What Mexico needs most, he said, is vocational education, training in crafts that will make it possible for the people to earn more money and improve their living conditions.

The period from 1890 to 1923, three years of peace following a revolt, which put Gen. Obregon into power, showed the most rapid strides in educational work, the lecturer asserted, but revolution followed and the progress went backward. During those three years 45,000,000 pesos was appropriated for educational purposes.

Senor Vasconcelos also spoke at the conference last night on "International Problems of Mexico" and reviewed the effect on internal affairs caused by America's attitude on many problems. He declared that passage of the law in 1924, which caused a change in policy on foreign industry had resulted in a decrease of $20,000,000 in government income from oil operations and a serious labor situation due to curtailment of operations in oil fields.

Prof. Charles W. Waddell of the U.C.L.A. presided at the afternoon session and Dr. Ernest C. Moore, director of the same institution, conducted the closing conference of the institute.

The institute, together with the Los Angeles center of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, has been in session for the past five days and is considered the most successful of the three held, according to Ordean Rockey, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Dr. Miller, McClintock, traffic consultant of the Traffic Commission, says that property enforcement of existing laws would serve to materially lessen objectionable features of truck use. To force all trucks upon a few streets, can serve only to throw some additional slow-moving burden of traffic upon the principal fast vehicle and traction streets.

At the hearing held last week it was found that home owners living on Van Ness avenue and other residential streets object to the naming of their streets as truck highways. On the other hand, persons living on streets excluded from the proposed truck highways are generally in favor of the ordinance.

McCLINTOCK'S STAND

Dr. McClintock holds that the attempt to apply the plan violates the fundamental principle of proper practice for it causes an even greater confusion of traffic than exists at the present time. He also points out that enforcement of the proposed law would be difficult, and hardly more than a gesture.

Instead of a wholesale system of segregation, Dr. McClintock suggests restrictions specifically applicable to residential streets with lighter types of pavement.

The City Council August 13 will consider the assessments to pay for the proposed improvement of Cabrillo avenue from First street to Sixth street in the harbor district. In these proceedings the assessments are to be collected before the work is started. Councilman Colden is working for an abandonment of the present proceedings so that engineering plans can be revised.

George F. Bquires, general manager of the organization already effected for unified operation; Attorney Clyde Leach, harbor department attorney; President Allen of the Harbor Commission and General Manager F. B. Cole of the harbor department will be present. The railroad, which have already signed the joint operation agreement, will be represented by their own counsel.

HEAVY HAULING HIT

The prohibiting of heavy trucking on Van Ness avenue north of Sunset boulevard was yesterday asked of the City Council by Frederick W. Rank and other property owners.

THE POLICE PLEA DENIED

The Police Commission has denied the request of the Forum Theater for the installation of automatic traffic signals at Pico street and Norton avenue. The commission said Norton is a dead-end street at Pico, and signals are not necessary.

Ordinance to be Considered

Proposed Routes for Such

Passage of an ordinance to limit trucks to certain business and residential streets in Hollywood will be considered at a meeting of the Traffic and Lighting Committee of the City Council on August 1, next.

The proposed truck highways include Fairfax avenue, Gardner street, La Brea avenue, Highland avenue, Cahuenga avenue, Vine street, Van Ness avenue, Western avenue, Normandie avenue, Vermont avenue, Yucca street, Hollywood, Sunset and Santa Monica boulevards and Melrose avenue.

The proposed ordinance is opposed by the Traffic Commission, on the ground that the heavy concentration of trucks on the principal traffic routes in Hollywood would interfere with the movement of street car and bus lines, and tend to force privately owned automobiles off these thoroughfares.

It is pointed out that while the present ordinance includes only streets in the Hollywood district, the continuation of these streets will cover a large portion of the city.

SPONSOR OF PLAN

G. Gordon Whitnall, director of the City Planning Commission, is sponsoring the proposed ordinance, saying that it should be given a six month trial and, if successful, should be made permanent. He says that the operation of trucks on other streets has been found objectionable by property owners, and that by confining the operation of such vehicles to a number of specified truck routes much of the present trouble would be eliminated. He is backed by Carl Bush, secretary of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, who says that property owners are hesitating to pave their streets, because of the fear that they will be used by trucks.
